Devnexus – the Professional Developer Conference

As the longest-running and largest Java platform conference in the USA and one of the leading technology events held annually around the globe. Devnexus is the premier conference for professional software developers who want to hear from and interact directly with internationally-acclaimed presenters and technologists while also connecting with like-minded developers who are mastering their craft in a range of relevant technologies.

Founded in 2004 by the Atlanta Java Users Group as Atlanta DevCon and restarted in 2009 under the moniker Devnexus, the 2024 event will bring in 2000+ attendees for an experience that will span three days, beginning with an optional full-day of six hands-on workshop sessions, followed by two days of presentations and live demonstrations on the industry's hottest topics. Offering 15 concurrent technology tracks and 150+ individual sessions, Devnexus brings attendees unparalleled opportunities to learn about the latest technology trends and dive deep into technologies that interest them.

With registration and sponsor slots consistently sold out before the .opening day, Devnexus also distinguishes itself as the highest-value event of its kind, offering premium content for an exceptional price. Unlike competing events held throughout the globe with many of the same speakers and programming, Devnexus' volunteer organizers continue to ensure that the event remains at a price point that makes it accessible to all professional developers who want to learn from masters and connect with their peers

3 days with 2000+ developers,
15 technology tracks,
160 speaker sessions,
1 day of hands-on workshops, all with globally recognized presenters and thought leaders.
